June–September 2026 Ebru foregrounded

Source-led · no invented titles or dimensions

A current practice led by water, movement and material transformation

Yusuf Şen works across Ebru, painting and moving image. In the current practice, Ebru is treated as an active field of image-making: water, pigment, pressure, transfer and accident become ways of thinking about unstable images, memory, the body and time.

CURRENT FOCUS

The Water's Response · 2026. This edition foregrounds a selected group from the verified June–September 2026 artist archive. The photographs are presentation crops of the artist's original source files. Orientation and outer photographic edges were corrected; the artworks themselves were not redrawn or AI-generated.

PAINTING

Erosion of Memory

2021 · Acrylic on Canvas · 140 × 70 cm

An abstract landscape where geological colour and emotional terrain meet. The work explores the erosion of memory over time.

Solar Figure

2020 · Acrylic on Canvas · 50 × 50 cm

Yellow, orange and red strokes form a figure consumed by light, treating identity as shifting energy rather than a fixed form.

PAINTING

Shadow Portrait

2021 · Acrylic on Canvas · 60 × 60 cm

A fragmented face emerges through layered colour and contrast, holding inner light against outer obscurity.
